The goose had lost his flute near the cave.

There came the crane and said, "Goosey Goose?"

Oh, it's my flute,

Let's go to the cave.

The goose climbed up the tree.

The crane was in the tree and said, "I will find it", said he. He climbed up the tree.

The crane and the goose were on the bike looking for the flute.

On the way, they met the drake who was eating his cake and the duck who was slurping her juice. They wanted to help too.

Five on a bike, they went mile after mile, looking for the flute in every pile.

After hours, they came back home to find the mouse play the flute in its hole.
