The family got separated into groups and watched him go, and she found the grass and put them into her Easter basket.

Soon, she walked into the rec center with the others. The room was dark, but a few flashlights shined around them to give them light. A volunteer gave all the kids their own flashlight headbands. The lights would help them see while they hunted for eggs in the dark, because this was a flashlight egg hunt!

Janet made sure she had her basket secured. Once everyone had their lights, they lined up and waited for the signal to go.

A woman with an Easter Bunny on her hat stood in front of the group. The woman reminded them of the rules. She told them not to shove, and to be careful in the dark. Then she said, "On your mark, get set, go!"

Janet raced through the large room. She turned her head left and right to shine her flashlight headband. There was an egg! She grabbed it, then she moved to the next one.

Soon, her basket was full. When she met her family back home,

Janet smiled with pride. She couldn't wait to show another special family member.

When the hunt was over, everyone was full of eggs, too.

Everything worked out

But first, they had
