Collocation is a familiar grouping of words that are habitually used together to express a specific meaning by means of this association.