

Name : _____

Your or You're?

"Your" is the possessive form of you. It means belonging to you.

Example: Is this your pen?

"You're" is the short(contract) form of you are.

Example: Everyone says that you're very kind and helpful.

Use your or you're to complete each sentence.

1) May I know _____ name, please?

2) _____ c

3) Did Jenny under

4) _____ r

5) May I borrow _____

6) _____ k

7) Wear _____

8) Is this _____ pet dog?

9) Howard told me _____ keen on joining the literary club.

10) Mr. Johnson is happy that _____ practicing the math sums several times.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Your or You're?

"Your" is the possessive form of you. It means belonging to you.

Example: Is this your pen?

"You're" is the short(contract) form of you are.

Example: Everyone says that you're very kind and helpful.

Use your or you're to complete each sentence.

1) May I know your name, please?

2) You're c

3) Did Jenny under

4) Your r

5) May I borrow

6) You're k

7) Wear your

8) Is this your pet dog?

9) Howard told me you're keen on joining the literary club.

10) Mr. Johnson is happy that you're practicing the math sums several times.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member?
Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com