

Second Conditionals

The second conditional is used to imagine an unlikely present or future situation. To form a second conditional, we use the past simple in the "if" clause and would/could/might in the other clause.

Example: The company would hire you if you applied.

PREVIEW

Fill in the blanks with the correct forms of the verb to make second-conditional sentences. Check the correct option.

- 1) I _____ the problems more quickly if she used a calculator.
a) would solve b) will solve
- 2) Jerome _____ a diamond ring if he _____ the money.
a) has b) had
- 3) The team _____ the game if they _____ more players.
a) would win b) will win
- 4) If Mom _____, I _____ to the cinema.
a) comes b) came
- 5) If the king _____, I _____ to the palace.
a) will want b) wanted
- 6) Jen _____ the problems more quickly if she used a calculator.
a) would solve b) will solve

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com