

Bob's Chair Job

Read the story and underline each instance where there is a digraph "ch" at the beginning.

Bob has a job to do. He has to check each chair. He does this by looking at each one. He makes sure that they are all safe.

Today will be a busy day for Bob. He has to check all the chairs for the children who will be sitting on them. He checks each one carefully with a piece of chalk.

Bob changes the seat cushions and finds a mouse munching the cheese under the chair. He chases the mouse away. He then chooses more chairs. He checks each one. There are no broken parts.

Now, Bob has ten chairs. He arranges the chairs cheerfully. His job is done.

Bob checks each chair to make sure they are safe.

Bob chooses five chairs for the children. He marks it with a white 'X'.

Bob gives the children a piece of chocolate and

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

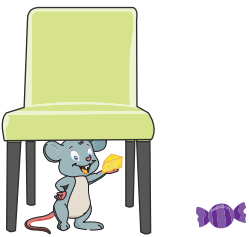

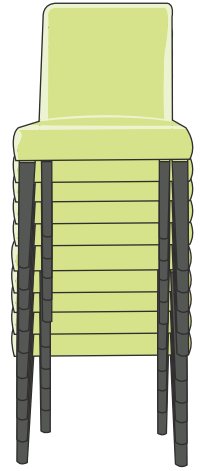

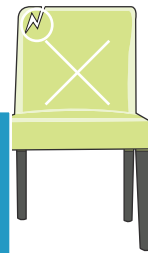

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Name : _____

Bob's Chair Job

Read the story and underline each instance where there is a digraph "ch" at the beginning.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Bob has a job to do. He has to check each chair. He does this by making sure that each chair is safe.

Bob checks each chair to ensure they are safe.

Today will be a busy day for the children who will be using the chairs. He checks each chair to make sure it is safe. He marks it with a chalk.

Bob checks the chairs for the broken parts. He chooses five chairs. He marks it with a white 'X'.

Bob changes the broken chairs. He finds a mouse munching the cheese under the chair. He chases the mouse away. He then chooses more chairs. He checks each one. There are no broken parts.

Bob changes the broken chairs and finds a mouse eating chocolate and cheese.

Now, Bob has ten chairs. He arranges the chairs cheerfully. His job is done.