

HyperboleFantasy's Flight

by Cathy Bolt

Underline the instances of hyperbole in the poem.

In a land where stars dance with glee,

Mountains reach their hands to the sky,

Oceans roar with a mighty cry,

Trees stretch their branches wide,

The sun's laughter fills the air,

While moonlight whispers soft and low,

Flowers sing their songs of joy,

Their fragrance fills the breeze.

In this world of grand exaggeration,

Where dreams soar beyond imagination.

Every moment, every sight,

Is a symphony of extravagant delight.
