

Cleanup Day

by Katie Clark

Read the story, and underline the phrasal verbs in it.

Britta looked around Aunt Val's attic. Boxes were piled around the space in heaps. Dust coated the windowsills. Old books, magazines, and toys littered the floor.

Aunt Val had a
help clean up the attic done, they were going

Britta took a deep
First, she would first. Then, she would

Aunt Val started
and what to throw away

Britta arranged
far wall.

"Look at this,"
was me and your mom when we were little." Aunt Val and Mom smiled for the picture while sitting on a giant swing.

Britta smiled, too. She liked old pictures.

When all the boxes were stacked, Britta sat down on an old rug. She went through a stack of old books.

s and tea cakes.

e all day.

hat to start cleaning

ecide what to keep

king them against the ta hurried to her. "This

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Name : _____

The Little Mermaid, The Sleeping Princess, and Black Beauty.

These books were classics!

"Would you like to keep those?" Aunt Val asked.

Britta smiled. "Yes, please." She set aside the books to take home later.

Once all the books were sorted, they arranged them on an old bookshelf. They put all the old toys inside a donation box, and they sorted the old magazines into the recycling bin.

Aunt Val climbed dust rag and mop. B

r she returned with a ped the attic floor.

They surveyed

PREVIEW
Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

"It looks a lot b

Aunt Val smile

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member?
Please sign up to gain complete access.

They went down

iled water for tea, and

Britta set out the chi

It had been a q

and start on her new books.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Use any four phrasal verbs you underlined in sentences of your own.

Cleanup Day

by Katie Clark

Read the story, and underline the phrasal verbs in it.

Britta looked around Aunt Val's attic. Boxes were piled around the space in heaps. Dust coated the windowsills. Old books, magazines, and toys littered the floor.

Aunt Val had a help clean up the attic. When the work was done, they were going to have a picnic.

Britta took a deep breath. First, she would sweep the floor. Then, she would vacuum the carpet.

Aunt Val started sorting through the boxes and what to throw away.

Britta arranged the boxes against the far wall.

"Look at this," Aunt Val said, holding up an old photograph. Britta hurried to her. "This was me and your mom when we were little." Aunt Val and Mom smiled for the picture while sitting on a giant swing.

Britta smiled, too. She liked old pictures.

When all the boxes were stacked, Britta sat down on an old rug. She went through a stack of old books.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

The Little Mermaid, The Sleeping Princess, and Black Beauty.

These books were classics!

“Would you like to keep those?” Aunt Val asked.

Britta smiled. “Yes, please.” She set aside the books to take home later.

Once all the books were sorted, they arranged them on an old bookshelf. They put all the old toys inside a donation box, and they sorted the old magazines into the recycling bin.

Aunt Val climbed down the stairs with a dust rag and mop. Britta followed her.

When she returned with a broom, she swept the attic floor.

They surveyed the room.

PREVIEW
Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

“It looks a lot better than I expected.”

Aunt Val smiled.

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

They went down to the kitchen.

Britta boiled water for tea, and Aunt Val made the sandwiches.

Britta set out the chairs for the books.

It had been a quiet afternoon.

Britta and start on her new books.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

Use any four phrasal verbs you underlined in sentences of your own.
