A comma is a punctuation mark used to separate words or groups of words in a series.

Example: sure I’ll have cereal for breakfast

Sure, I’ll have cereal for breakfast.

Rewrite each sentence. Capitalize, add a comma after “yes”, “no” or “sure” and use other punctuation marks wherever relevant.

1) sure I’ll be there by 4 pm tomorrow

2) yes he is my younger brother

3) no we are not going on a vacation tomorrow

4) yes I made it exclaimed Harry

5) sure I will update you about any changes in the plan.

6) no the library will be closed tomorrow

7) yes mommy bought me a new bike

8) sure I’ll pick up Ron from school
A comma is a punctuation mark used to separate words or groups of words in a series.

Example: sure i’ll have cereal for breakfast

> Sure, I’ll have cereal for breakfast.

Rewrite each sentence. Capitalize, add a comma after “yes”, “no” or “sure” and use other punctuation marks wherever relevant.

1) sure i’ll be there by 4 pm tomorrow

   Sure, I’ll be there by 4 pm tomorrow.

2) yes he is my younger brother

   Yes, he is my younger brother.

3) no we are not going on a vacation tomorrow

   No, we are not going on a vacation tomorrow.

4) yes i made it exclaimed Harry

   “Yes, I made it, exclaimed Harry.”

5) sure i will update you about any changes in the plan.

   Sure, I will update you about any changes in the plan.

6) no the library will be closed tomorrow

   No, the library will be closed tomorrow.

7) yes mommy bought me a new bike

   Yes, Mommy bought me a new bike.

8) sure i’ll pick up Ron from school

   Sure, I’ll pick up Ron from school.