

It's Like Riding A Bike

by Katie Clark

Underline the similes in the story and use them in sentences.

Nathan buckled the strap of his bicycle helmet and pulled on his elbow and knee pads. He was ready to try out his new ramp which he had received for his birthday.

Bella and Christopher, two kids who lived down the street, stood in the crowd watching Nathan jump and hang in the air like a fan blowing in the wind.

Nathan climbed the ramp at his maximum speed. The wind whistled past his face. It felt like he was flying.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

the sidewalk for a moment. He made the climb and his hands before hitting the ground.

Nathan kept pedaling and shouted and clapped like an expert biker.

Bella and Christopher were cheering. They made the jump like a pro.

He made the jump and landed smoothly. He gave the bicycle for Bella to have a turn. She put on the helmet and pads, and she took her turn. Christopher went next.

They all made their jumps successfully. Nathan loved his new bicycle ramp. He felt as awesome as the coolest kid in town.

At last, it was time for Bella and Christopher to go home. They promised to return tomorrow for more bike riding. Nathan couldn't wait!

Name : _____

It's Like Riding A Bike

Write a sentence with each simile that you have underlined in the story.

1) _____

2) _____

3) _____

4) _____

5) _____

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

It's Like Riding A Bike

by Katie Clark

Underline the similes in the story and use them in sentences.

Nathan buckled the strap of his bicycle helmet and pulled on his elbow and knee pads. He was ready to try out his new ramp which he had received for his birthday.

Bella and Christopher, two kids who lived down the street, stood in the crowd. Nathan jumped and hung in the air like a fan.

Nathan climbed the ramp at maximum speed. The wind whistled in his face. It felt like he was riding a fan.

The ramp sat on a hill. The back tire followed. The front tire hit the ground.

Nathan kept pedaling and shouted and clapped. He was like an expert biker.

He made the jump. He handed the bicycle for Bella to have a turn. She put on the helmet and pads, and she took her turn. Christopher went next.

They all made their jumps successfully. Nathan loved his new bicycle ramp. He felt as awesome as the coolest kid in town.

At last, it was time for Bella and Christopher to go home. They promised to return tomorrow for more bike riding. Nathan couldn't wait!

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member? Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

the sidewalk for like a fan blowing in made the climb and his hands before hitting the and Christopher made the jump like for the bicycle for Bella