

Subject and Predicate

When a sentence has more than one subject, it is called a compound subject. A coordinating conjunction joins the individual subjects.

Example: _____

Underline the compound subject in each sentence.

- 1) Rain and snow are forms of precipitation.
- 2) Neither rain nor snow is good for the crops.
- 3) Canoes and kayakers are popular on the river.
- 4) A mitten and a jumper will keep you warm.
- 5) Either Trevor or Jack will win the race.
- 6) Peter and Sara are going to the zoo.
- 7) Neither the cat nor the dog likes the new owner.
- 8) Coffee and tea are popular drinks.
- 9) A map or a GPS device will help us find the campsite.
- 10) John and I are going to the zoo.

PREVIEW

Gain complete access to the largest collection of worksheets in all subjects!

Members, please log in to download this worksheet.

Not a member?
Please sign up to gain complete access.

www.mathworksheets4kids.com

