

Insect Week

by Liana Mahoney

Pick out any ten nouns and verbs from the story, and write them in the appropriate category.

It was Insect Week. Ryan needed an insect to bring to school. A cool one.

He went outside with his camera, a net, and a small bin. The net and bin would help him catch and keep the bug, and the camera would help him take a picture anywhere without that!

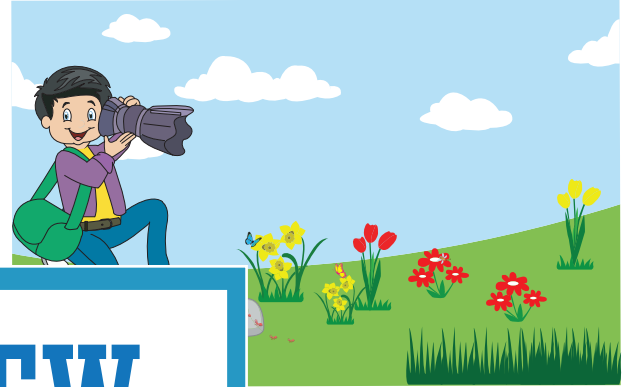

First he flipped over the leaves, but he was unable to escape from his camera.

Next, he went over to the flowers. So much green! He saw movement on the ground. He took a picture with his camera. Then he tried to catch it, but it disappeared in the grass.

In the garden, he took a picture of a spotted butterfly. It flew away from him as it buzzed right in front of his camera before darting away on a breeze.

Ryan went back inside with an empty bug bin. He hadn't caught a thing. What would he take to school for Insect Week?

Then he took out his camera. He looked through the pictures he took that afternoon. Ryan smiled. He was ready for Insect Week after all. He didn't catch any cool bugs to bring in, but he caught a whole collection of them on his camera!
